STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Having regard to the recommendations made by the Law Commission and the National Police Commission, the observations made by the courts and the suggestions received from the State Governments and others, and with a view to removing certain difficulties or lacunae felt in its working, it has been found necessary to amend various sections of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

2. The Notes on clauses explain, in brief, the various provisions of the Bill.

3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

S. B. CHAVAN,

Notes on clauses

Clause 2.—This clause seeks to insert sub-section (4A) in section 20 to enable the State Government to delegate its powers to the District Magistrates for the purposes of placing the Executive Magistrates in charge of a sub-division.

Clause 3.—This clause seeks to amend sub-section (6) of section 24 to clarify the expressions “regular Cadre of Prosecuting Officers” and “Prosecuting Officer”.

Clause 4.— This clause seeks to insert a new section 25A empowering the State Government to establish the Directorate of Prosecution. The Director of Prosecution shall function under the administrative control of the Head of the Home Department in the State.

Clause 5.—This clause seeks to amend section 29 of the Code to enhance the sentencing power of the Magistrate of the First Class to impose fine from five thousand rupees up to twenty-five thousand rupees and Magistrate of the Second Class from one thousand rupees up to five thousand rupees. This is being proposed keeping in view the depreciation of the value of the rupee since 1973 and to make the provision more deterrent.

Clause 6.—Sub-section (2) of section 45 of the Code gives protection from arrest to members of the Armed Forces charged with the maintenance of public order. This clause seeks to extend similar protection to such other public servants as are charged with the maintenance of public order as they also have to face similar difficulties.

Clause 7.—This clause seeks to amend section 46 to empower the police officer concerned to use all means necessary to effect the arrest, including causing death, in the case of proclaimed offender under sub-section (4) of section 82. A new sub-section (4) is being added to said section 46 to prohibit arrest of a woman after sunset and before sunrise except in unavoidable circumstances.

Clause 8.—This clause seeks to insert a new section 50A to require the police to give information about the arrest of the person as well as the place where he is being held to any one who may be nominated by him for sending such information.

Clause 9.—This clause seeks to insert an Explanation to section 53 to explain the meaning of the expressions “examination” and “registered medical practitioner” appearing in sections 52, 53A and 54.

Clause 10.—This clause seeks to insert a new section 53A to provide for a detailed medical examination of a person accused of an offence of rape or an attempt to commit rape by the registered medical practitioner employed in a hospital run by the Government or a local authority and in the absence of such a practitioner by any other registered medical practitioner.

Clause 11.—The proposed amendment to section 54 is intended to provide that a copy of the report of the medical examination of the arrested person should also be furnished by the registered medical practitioner to the arrested person or his nominee, after his medical examination has been conducted.

Clause 12.—This clause seeks to insert a new section 54A to empower the Court to direct specifically the holding of the identification of the arrested person at the request of the prosecution.

Clause 13.—This clause seeks to insert new sub-sections (4) and (5) in section 82 empowering the Court to make the declaration that the person is a proclaimed offender where he fails to appear at the specified place and time mentioned in the proclamation issued under sub-section (1) of section 82 in relation to offences under sections 302, 304, 364, etc., of the Indian Penal Code.

Clause 14.—The proposed amendment to sub-section (3) of section 102 is intended to give greater discretion to the police for releasing seized property, where there is difficulty in securing proper accommodation for the custody of property or where the continued retention of the property in police custody is not considered necessary for the purposes of investigation.

It is also proposed that if the seized property is of perishable nature and value of such property is less than five hundred rupees and if the person entitled to the possession of such property is unknown or absent, the police be empowered to sell such property by auction under the orders of the Superintendent of Police. For this purpose a proviso is being inserted to sub-section (3) of section 102 of the Code.

Clause 15.—In order to effectively deal with offences under the Foreigners Act, 1946 a need has been felt to strengthen the hands of State authorities by empowering them to take action under section 110 of the Code against persons assisting infiltration. This will help to check the flow of undesirable foreigners into the country. The Foreigners Act, 1946 is, accordingly, being added as item (h) of sub-clause (i) of clause (f).

Clause 16.—This clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of section 122 to remove the discrepancy between section 107(1) and section 122(1) (b) of the Code.

Clause 17.—On the recommendations made by the Chief Justices' Conference and in view of the depreciation in the value of money, it is proposed to amend section 125 of the Code to enhance the maximum limit for payment of maintenance from five hundred rupees to one thousand five hundred rupees.

Clause 18.—In order to curb the militant activities of certain communal organisations, a need has been felt to strengthen the hands of State authorities for effectively checking communal tension and foster a sense of complete security in the minds of members of the public. This clause, therefore, seeks to insert a new section 144A in the Code to enable the District Magistrate to prohibit mass drill (or training) with arms in public places.

Clause 19.—This clause seeks to insert new section 164A in the Code to provide for a medical examination of the victim of a rape by a registered medical practitioner employed in a hospital run by the Government or a local authority and in the absence of such a practitioner by any other registered medical practitioner.

Clause 20.—A new sub-section (3A) is being added to section 173 to enable the police to take note of the desire of the parties to compound offences compoundable under section 320 even at the stage of investigation. This is intended to help quicker disposal of cases of compoundable category and to reduce the work load of the police.

Clause 21.—Section 176 is being amended to provide that in the case of death or disappearance of a person, or rape of a woman while in the custody of the police, there shall be a mandatory judicial inquiry and in case of death, examination of the dead body shall be conducted within twenty-four hours of death.

Clause 22.—The Patna High Court in 1977 in Ramdeo Mahto's case (1977 Bihar L.J.R. 498) observed that there is a lacuna in the Code as there is no provision therein which enables a Magistrate to pass an order of remand after submission of the police report under section 173 (2) and before taking cognizance of the offence disclosed by the police report under section 190. This clause therefore seeks to insert a proviso to sub-section (1) of section 190 of the Code to empower a Magistrate to authorise further detention in custody of an accused person, for a period not exceeding a week, after recording reasons therefor.

Clause 23.—Section 197 (3) gives protection to the members of the Armed Forces charged with the maintenance of public order in the matter of prosecution in respect of offences alleged to have been committed while acting or purporting to act in the discharge of their duties. This clause seeks to amend sub-section (3) to extend similar protection to other public servants, charged with the maintenance of public order, as they have also to face similar difficulties.

Clause 24.—False complaints are filed against persons residing at far off places simply to harass them. In order to see that innocent persons are not harassed by unscrupulous persons, this clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of section 202 to make it obligatory upon the Magistrate that before summoning the accused residing beyond his jurisdiction he shall enquire into the case himself or direct investigation to be made by a police officer or by such other person as he thinks fit, for finding out whether or not there was sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused.

Clause 25.—The provisions of section 206 are meant to enable a quick disposal of petty cases and to reduce congestion in the Court of Magistrates. Since the value of the money has gone down considerably, this clause seeks to amend sub-section (1) of that section to raise the limit of fine that can be specified in the summons from one hundred rupees to one thousand rupees.

Clause 26.—The proviso to section 223 provides that the Magistrate on an application of the accused persons may direct their joint trial even if they do not fall in the categories specified, if he is satisfied that such persons would not be prejudicially affected thereby. In the interest of prompt disposal of cases, scope of this proviso is being widened to enable the Court of Session also to hold such trials.

Clause 27.—Under section 228, a Session Judge can transfer a case only to the Chief Judicial Magistrate. The proposed amendment seeks to give discretion to the Sessions Judge to transfer a case either to the Chief Judicial Magistrate or to any other Judicial Magistrate of the First Class and to fix a date for the appearance of the accused before the Chief Judicial Magistrate or the Judicial Magistrate, as the case may be, so that a lot of time, which is wasted in summoning the accused by the Magistrate, may be saved.

Clause 28.—Under sub-section (1) of section 260 a Magistrate has a discretion to try offences specified therein either summarily or in a regular way. It is also proposed to provide that the offence of theft and other cognate offences, namely, offences under sections 379, 380, 381, 411 and 414 of the Indian Penal Code may be tried summarily where the value of the property involved does not exceed two thousand rupees instead of two hundred rupees at present.

Clause 29.—Under the existing provisions of the Code an identification memo is required to be proved in the Court by examination of the Magistrate, who conducted the proceedings. These facts are generally not disputed. In order to save time of the Court, a new section 291A is being inserted with a view to making memorandum of identification prepared by the Magistrate admissible in evidence without formal proof of facts stated therein with a provision that the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the prosecution or the accused, summon or examine the Magistrate as to the subject matter contained in the memorandum of identification.

Clause 30.—This clause seeks to amend section 292 of the Code to cover the specified officers of the Currency Note Press, the Bank Note Press and the Security Printing Press, like other specified officers of the Mint and the India Security Press and also makes certain other consequential changes.

Clause 31.—The designation “the Chief Inspector of Explosives” appearing in the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 has been changed to “the Chief Controller of Explosives” by the Indian Explosives (Amendment) Act, 1978. The opportunity has therefore been taken to make the consequential amendment to section 293 where the expression “the Chief Inspector of Explosives” occurs.

Clause 32.—The Supreme Court in State of U.P. Vs. Ram Babu Mishra (AIR 1980 S.C. 791) suggested that a suitable legislation be made on the analogy of section 5 of the Identification of Prisoners Act, 1980, to provide for the investiture of Magistrates with powers to issue directions to any person including an accused person to give specimen signatures and handwriting. A new section 311A is accordingly being inserted in the Code.

Clause 33.—Sub-clause (a) seeks to amend the Table appended to sub-section (2) of section 320 of the Code so as to make the offence under section 324 of the Indian Penal Code, a non-compoundable offence.

Sub-clause (c) seeks to amend the said Table so as to enhance the value of the property mentioned in respect of sections 379, 381, 406, 407, 408, 411 and 414 of the Indian Penal Code to two thousand rupees instead of two hundred and fifty rupees since the value of money has gone down considerably.

Clause 34.—In order to curb the goonda menace, sub-section (1) of section 356 of the Code is being amended to bring within its ambit all offences in Chapter XVI of the Indian Penal Code (offences affecting the human body) punishable with imprisonment for three years or more as well as the aggravated form of offence under section 506 (criminal intimidation punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine, or with both).

Clause 35.—This clause seeks to amend section 358 of the Code to enhance the limit of fine of one hundred rupees to one thousand rupees so as to make this provision more effective.

Clause 36.—Section 377 is being amended so as to permit the filing of an appeal in the Court of Session instead of the High Court on the ground of inadequacy of sentence passed by a Magistrate. This amendment is intended not only to make it easier for the administration to prefer appeals against unduly lenient sentences by Magistrates but will also deter the latter from passing sentence that are grossly inadequate.

Clause 37.—In order to guard against the arbitrary exercise of power and to reduce reckless acquittals, section 378 is being amended to provide that an appeal against an order of acquittal passed by a Magistrate in respect of a cognizable and non-bailable offence filed on a police report would lie to the Court of Session, and the District Magistrate will be authorised to direct the Public Prosecutor to file such appeals. In respect of all other cases filed on a police report, on appeal against an order of acquittal passed by any court other than the High Court should lie only to the High Court and the authority to direct the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal shall continue to be with the State Government.

Clause 38.—This clause adds two provisos to sub-section (1) of section 389 of the Code to the effect that (i) the Appellate Court will give notice to the prosecution before releasing a convicted person on bail, if he was convicted of an offence punishable with death, imprisonment for life or imprisonment for a term of not less than ten years; and (ii) the prosecution should be permitted to move an application for cancellation of bail granted by the Appellate Court.

Clause 39.—The provision of section 433A adversely affects the reformation of lifer, whose case inspite of good conduct in jail cannot be referred to the Advisory Board for recommending his premature release to the State Government, unless he has completed 14 years of actual imprisonment. Proposed amendment to section 428 is intended to provide that the period for which the life convict remained in detention during investigation, inquiry or trial shall be set off against the period of 14 years of actual imprisonment prescribed in section 433A.

Clause 40.—In respect of bailable offences, a person has to remain in jail for his inability to furnish bail, till the case is disposed of. Section 436(1) is, therefore, being amended to make a mandatory provision that if the arrested person is accused of a bailable offence and he is an indigent and cannot furnish surety, the Court shall release him on his execution of a bond without sureties.

Clause 41.—There had been instances, where under trial prisoners were detained in jail for periods beyond the maximum period of imprisonment provided for the alleged offence. A new section 436A is being inserted in the Code to provide that where an under-trial prisoner other than the one accused of an offence for which death has been prescribed as one of the punishments, has been under detention for a period extending to one-half of the maximum period of imprisonment provided for the alleged offence, he should be released on his personal bond, with or without sureties.

It is also proposed to provide that in no case will an under-trial prisoner be detained beyond the maximum period of imprisonment for which he can be convicted for the alleged offence.

Clause 42.—This clause seeks to amend section 437 to provide that if a person commits a cognizable and non-bailable offence, and he has previously been convicted on two or more occasions of a cognizable offence punishable with imprisonment for 3 years or more but not less than 7 years, he shall not be released except in the circumstances specified in the provision.

It is further provided that if an accused appears before the Court while in judicial custody and prays for bail, or a prayer for bail is made on his behalf, the court shall grant bail only after giving an opportunity of hearing to the prosecution, if the offence alleged to have been committed by the accused is punishable with death, imprisonment for life or imprisonment for not less than 7 years.

Under sub-section (3) of section 437 of the Code, the Court has got the discretion to impose certain conditions for the grant of bail. Under section 441(2), here any condition is imposed for the release of a person on bail, the bond shall contain that condition also. In order to make the provision stringent and to see that the person on bail does not interfere or intimidate witness, sub-section (3) is being amended to specify certain conditions, which are mandatory.

Clause 43.—Section 438 is being amended to the effect that (i) the power to grant anticipatory bail should be exercised by the court of session or High Court after taking into consideration certain circumstances; (ii) if the Court does not reject the application for the grant of anticipatory bail, and makes an interim order of bail, it should, forthwith give notice to the Public Prosecutor and Superintendent of Police and the question of bail would be re-examined in the light of the respective contentions of the parties; and (iii) the presence of the person seeking anticipatory bail in the Court should be made mandatory at the time of hearing of the application for the grant of anticipatory bail subject to certain exceptions.

Clause 44.—This clause seeks to insert a new section 441A which provides that a person standing surety for an accused person shall disclose as to in how many cases he has already stood surety for accused persons.

Clause 45.—Under sub-section (1) of section 446, where a bond for appearance before a Court is forfeited the Court records the grounds of such proof and calls upon persons bound by such bond to pay a penalty thereof or to show cause why it should not be paid. The Court, however, has a discretion to remit any portion of the penalty and enforce payment in part only. In order to see that such a penalty is not reduced liberally, sub-section (3) of section 446 is being amended to provide that the Court shall record reasons before reducing the penalty.

Clause 46.—This clause seeks to make a consequential amendment in section 459 of the Code. A new proviso which is being added in sub-section (3) of section 102 of the Code seeks to empower the police to sell perishable property up to a value of five hundred rupees. As per the existing provisions of section 459 the Magistrate is empowered to sell perishable property of the value of less than ten rupees only. As a result police has been given concurrent jurisdiction in the matter with the Magistrate.

Clause 47.—Entries relating to sections 153AA, 174A and 229A to be inserted in the Indian Penal Code, as indicated in clause 54 have to be incorporated in the First Schedule to the Code. The amendments are consequential.

The offence under section 324 of the Indian Penal Code, i.e., voluntarily causing hurt by dangerous weapons or means is at present bailable. Since the offender is immediately released on bail, the chances of recovering the weapon of offence are remote; therefore, the First Schedule appended to the Code, is being amended to classify the offence as non-bailable.

The offences under sections 274 (Adulteration of drugs), 332 (voluntarily causing hurt to deter public servant from his duty) and 353 (assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharging his duty) of the Indian Penal Code are at present bailable. In order to deal with these offences effectively, the First Schedule to the Code is being amended to classify offences under sections 274, 332 and 353 of the Indian Penal Code as non-bailable.

Clause 48.—Form No. 45 in the Second Schedule to the Code is being amended as a consequence of insertion of a new section 436A by clause 47, providing for release of the person undergoing detention during investigation, etc., on a personal bond with or without sureties.

Clause 49.—This clause amends the Indian Penal Code as follows, namely:—

(a) clause 19 is intended to enable the District Magistrate to prohibit mass drill (or training) with arms in public places. A new section 153AA is therefore being added to the Indian Penal Code to prescribe punishment with imprisonment up to six months and fine up to two thousand rupees for the contravention of the prohibitory order;

(b) clause 16 seeks to insert new sub-sections (4) and (5) in section 82 of the Code to provide for the declaration of a person as proclaimed offender, if he fails to appear in spite of the proclamation published under sub-section (1) of that section. In order to curb the tendency on the part of criminals not to attend the court in response to proclamation published under sub-section (1) or further proclamation issued under sub-section (4) declaring the accused as "Proclaimed Offender" a new section 174A is being added to the Indian Penal Code to prescribe punishment for such offender;

(c) under clause 50 an obligation is cast on the person released on bail or on bond to appear and surrender to custody. In order to enforce this obligation, a new section 229A is being inserted in the Indian Penal Code to prescribe punishment for those who fail to do so.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 4 of the Bill provides for the establishment of a Directorate of Prosecution consisting of a Director of Prosecution and Deputy Directors of Prosecution below him. This provision would enable the State Governments and Union territories to set up Directorates of Prosecution, when it is considered necessary to establish such a Directorate. The additional expenditure if such a Directorate is established, will be in regard to creation of the posts of Director and Deputy Directors only as the Public Prosecutors and Assistant Public Prosecutors would already be in position to conduct cases. The appointment of a Director of Prosecution and Deputy Directors of Prosecution will generally be made from amongst the departmental officers. The State Governments themselves would bear the expenditure involved in the creation of Directorates of Prosecution in the States. The Central Government would have to bear the expenditure in respect of the Directorates of Prosecution which may be set up in those Union territories which do not have a consolidated Fund of their own; provision for such expenditure would be made in the appropriate budget for the Union territory concerned as and when it is proposed to set up a Directorate of Prosecution in that Union territory. It is, therefore, not possible to give an estimate of the expenditure involved (recurring or non-recurring) in this behalf at this stage. However, proposals for establishment of such Directorates in Union territories would be processed in consultation with the Ministry of Finance (Department of Expenditure).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Institute of Technology Act, 1961 was enacted by Parliament in December, 1961 to declare certain Institutes of Technology to be institutions of national importance. It was amended in September, 1963 to include the College of Engineering and Technology, Delhi as an Indian Institute of Technology under the aforesaid Act.

2. After taking into consideration the aspirations and requirements of people of Assam, the 'Assam Accord' was signed in August, 1985, in which it has been decided, among other things, to set up an Indian Institute of Technology in Assam. The Indian Institute of Technology (Guwahati) Assam Society was registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 in February, 1989. Land measuring 708 acres has been acquired by the Society at Guwahati. STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Uttar Pradesh Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar Act, 1989 (UP Act 25 of 1989) was enacted by the State Legislature to establish and incorporate a unitary teaching and residential University at Lucknow as a memorial to the life and works of the late Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar. However the establishment of the University under the State Act was not notified by the State Government.

2. The U.P. Government had requested that the Central Govt. should either convert the Dr. B. R. Ambedkar University of the State Govt. into a Central University or agree to bear 50 per cent of the projected cost for the establishment of the University. The Standing Committee for the celebration of Centenary Year of Dr. B. R. Ambedkar had resolved that this University be converted into a Central University and that it may specialize in technology courses and provide for higher percentage of seats for SCs/STs.

3. The Bill seeks to establish a teaching and residential University at Lucknow in the State of Uttar Pradesh. The University shall promote advanced courses in Science and key and frontier areas of technology, and other allied disciplines in the educational programmes of the University; take appropriate measures for promoting innovations in teaching-learning process in inter-disciplinary studies and research and pay special attention to the improvement of social and economic conditions and welfare of the people of Uttar Pradesh in general and to members belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in particular by providing higher percentage of seats for SCs and STs.

4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.

ARJUN SINGH

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 3 of the Bill provides for establishment of a Central University in Uttar Pradesh at Lucknow.

2. The State Government of Uttar Pradesh had estimated Rs. 200.00 crores as the cost of setting up the University. An appropriate estimate of funds required for setting up the University would be assessed in the project report to be got prepared through the University Grants Commission. Since the Dr. Bhim Rao Ambedkar University would be specialising in technology, courses, the cost of setting up this University would be more than that of a conventional University. During the balance of the 8th Plan Period, the Government would require Rs. 8.12 crores for setting up the proposed Central University.

3. The above mentioned expenditure will be met by the University Grants Commission from its Plan allocation after approving developmental proposal of the proposed University on 5-year basis with a view to ensuring its optimum development.
